Miss Minnie Connolly, of Honesdale, is visiting Scranton friends.

The Messrs. Krauter, of Tshyphanna, are the guests of Miss Mary Wagonhorst, of Mulberry street.

Walter K. Kiple, the well known amateur violinist, who was one of the most promising pupils of the late Herr Kopp, is now employed at the desk of the Lexington hotel, at Lakewood, N. J.

Band Master R. J. Bauer was very much improved yesterday at his residence, 113 North Bromley avenue, where he is at present confined from a severe attack of pneumonia. Dr. Allen, the attending physician, has forbidden anyone seeing his patient, but expects that with care and good nursing Professor Bauer will soon recover his usual health.

SOME ONE IS NEGLIGENT.

Ice on a Wyoming Avenue Crossing Causes a Nasty Fall.

Owing to the gross negligence of someone a man was painfully hurt early last evening at the junction of the Wyoming sidewalk and the Center street pavement. His name is Morgan Williams, 35 years old, of the West Side. He slipped on the ice which has been allowed to form there ever since cold weather started, and in falling was cut on the side of his head and was unconscious for about half an hour.

On Center street, about fifteen feet from the Wyoming avenue sidewalk a tiny stream of water has been flowing up through a minute crack in the asphalt for several months. The stream, though small and hardly perceptible even on close examination, has caused a miniature ice pond, which, during the recent spell of cold weather has brought more than one pedestrian down with a thud.

The Gas and Water company has claimed the water comes from a pipe which was damaged by the Economy company when the latter constructed its steam heating line in the alley. The Economy company says the damage is none of its doing. Meanwhile people are daily risking neck and limb in crossing the slippery surface and the city officials have taken no action.

When Williams fell last night a deep gash was cut on the right side of his head from near the top of his ear to over his eye. Bystanders failed to arouse him and he was taken by direction of Sergeant of Police Jones into the Center street station house. There, too, efforts to bring him to consciousness were futile. An ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the Lackawanna hospital. There he received and his wound was dressed. He was able to go to his home at the corner of Pettibone street and Hyde Park avenue.

JACOBY MADE THREATS.

Left the Hospital Friday and Was Arrested Saturday.

Henry Jacoby, the young man who gained much unpleasant notoriety in the early part of last week by attempting to commit suicide while in a frolic over uttering threats, was before an alderman Saturday morning charged with violating threats and creating a disturbance.

He was discharged from the Lackawanna hospital Friday afternoon, having sufficiently recovered from his self-inflicted wounds, and started out to hunt up his wife.

While he was in the hospital she had removed from their former residence on Gordon street, to Loneragan court, on the West Side, and there he found her. He was refused admission and attempted to gain entrance by force, making threats, as alleged by his wife, at this time. Lieutenant Williams and Patrolman McColligan arrested him. At the hearing before Police Court Alderman Davies, he stated that he was a much-abused man. Also that his wife was unfaithful and thought more of a boarder than of him. He asked to be discharged, promising to leave the city as soon as possible. His wish was granted on this condition.

During his term of incarceration, however, he told a friend that he loved his wife so much that he was unhappy when away from her.

ROBBERS IN A WAGON.

Another Burglarious Operation Down the Valley.

Robbers traveling in a wagon burglarized the residence of John Brizze on the Milwaukee road, a short distance from Lackawanna station, Saturday night.

They left their wagon in charge of one of their number on the line leading from the main road to Connell & Co.'s mine.

They then broke into Brizze's house, ransacked the place and made off with $35 which was found in a pocket book in Brizze's room.

TWO MURDER CASES ON THIS WEEK'S LIST

ONE COMMITTED HERE OTHER AT LACKAWANNA.

Edward Moran Killed His Neighbor, Thomas Gilligan, at Providence on Saturday, Sept. 17, During a Quarrel—Joseph Santoro Was Murdered in a Most Cold Blooded Fashion at Lackawanna on Monday, July 25—There is Doubt as to Who Killed Him.

Two murder trials are on this week's criminal court list. They are the cases of Edward Moran, of Providence, charged with killing his neighbor, Thomas Gilligan, and Raffael Passara, alias Philip Passara, indicted for the murder of Joseph Santoro, at Lackawanna.

The first crime occurred Saturday, Sept. 17. Gilligan and Moran frequently quarreled and early in the evening of the day in question met and renewed their quarrel. A friend interfered and sent them to their respective homes. Several hours later in the night as Moran was returning home, he was overtaken by Gilligan and, it is alleged, was assaulted. He drew a pocketknife and stabbed his adversary in the left arm.

Disengaging himself he started back the way he had come, Gilligan following him and throwing stones at him. Moran attempted to take refuge in a house, but while trying to open the gate Gilligan came upon him. Just what happened after that no disinterested witness has as yet told, except that the men grappled, fell to the ground and rolled into the gutter with Gilligan, who was the larger man, on top.

MORAN WAS ON TOP.

When Patrolman John Saltry, who was summoned from his home nearby, reached the scene, Moran was on top, pounding Gilligan. Both were placed under arrest. Before taking them to the station house, Patrolman Saltry thought to dress the cut on Gilligan's arm and for that purpose took him into his (Saltry's) house. As they were entering the yard Gilligan complained of being sick and started up the garden path. Before he had gone many paces he collapsed and fell to the ground. An examination revealed that he had also been stabbed in the heart, though he himself was not aware of it. He died while being carried to his home, a block and a half away.

Two knives were found at the scene of the second encounter. A small black-handled one Moran admitted to be his. A larger one with a yellowish, bone handle was never accounted for. Moran denies that it was his and the relatives of Gilligan state positively that he was never known to possess such a knife. The blade of this second knife was not open when it was picked up.

Moran will make a plea of self-defense. His attorneys are O'Brien and Kelly. The Gilligans have engaged Attorney James Shea, of Wilkes-Barre, as private counsel.

LACKAWANNA MURDER.

The Lackawanna murder was committed Monday, July 25. It was one of the most brutal and blood-thirsty crimes ever committed in Lackawanna county. Santoro and a man who is supposed to be Passara were walking north along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad just above Lackawanna station. Suddenly Passara's companion started to back, drew a small ax from beneath his coat and dealt him a blow in the back. He followed this up with other blows and when the body was found the neck was almost severed.

Passara was suspected mainly because of his jealousy of Santoro and when an investigation revealed a few incriminating circumstances he was placed under arrest. The developments so far do not make out a very strong case against the accused, but County Detective Lantry, who is prosecutor in the case, avers that he has some strong evidence against him. Taylor and Lewis are attorneys for Passara.

DENMAN THOMPSON'S BET.

He Won Four Hundred from Scranton Bookies on Friday.

In the vicarage of the track, Denman Thompson got into the Scranton bookmakers for four hundred. In other words Denman had a sure thing up his sleeve when he reached Scranton Friday afternoon. He found a bet of four to one posted against his choice in the only pool room in Scranton and his bet of $100 straight was accepted. The good thing went, as good things seldom do, and the venerable Jack walked out with his own hundred and four times that amount of the bookmakers' money.

But betting on the horses is an everyday pastime with the popular actor. He wins or loses hundreds of dollars daily and the only reason he didn't win $4,000 on Friday was because the bookies would only accept a hundred of the thousand dollars which Joshua wanted to get on. Out of the hundreds of sympathetic spectators who saw "The Old Homestead" in the Lyceum that evening and believed in the innocence of the man as displayed in the actor, one gray-haired old sport standing in the rear of the house was

BEATS TENNESSEE ENGLISH.

Interesting Sample of Queen's Own from Porto Rico.

Among the many interesting things brought back from Porto Rico by the local volunteer engineers none more interesting, it is safe to say, than the appended communication sent to Private A. E. Vorhis by the mayor of Compa.

Mr. Vorhis and a friend had a day off and thought to enjoy a ride into the country. They waited upon the local ferryman, but as he could not speak English and they could not speak Spanish it was impossible for them to strike a bargain. The mayor of the city they had learned was a man of wide knowledge and a master of English. They visited him and telling him their troubles asked him if he would be good enough to engage a couple of horses for them. He readily in fairly intelligible English that he was only too pleased to be of any service to his American friends and if he would send them word to the camp, early in the afternoon Mr. Vorhis received the following, written on the back of a scrap of legal blank, in a well formed hand:

The person who let horses here have furnished today six horses and have told me said this order's he do not have more to let but I will let you have one of them—However I send one of that order to see whether get that two horses which you need.

It was signed by the Alcalde of Compa, and no doubt the Alcalde was quite satisfied with the manner in which he took advantage of the opportunity of showing that he was in pretty good shape to become an American mayor.

The interesting document is now in the possession of Dr. E. M. Pennycuik, to whom it was presented as a war relic by Mr. Vorhis.

ON D. W. BROWN'S DEATH.

Bar Association Eulogizes Its Departed Member.

Members of the Lackawanna bar to the number of a hundred or more assembled in court room No. 3 Saturday afternoon to adopt resolutions upon the death of the late Attorney David W. Brown. The resolutions were adopted by a committee composed of Milton W. Lowry, J. W. Carpenter and C. S. Woodruff.

Judge H. M. Edwards was chosen to preside at the adoption and D. Dean acted as secretary. Judge Edwards paid a beautiful tribute to the deceased, saying that among other things that in the qualities which make a faithful, honest lawyer and good upright citizen no one could exceed him.

Fitting eulogies were also spoken by Attorneys T. F. Welles, W. A. Wilcox, H. M. Streeter and D. B. Reppelge. Judge Edwards appointed Attorneys H. N. Patrick, A. D. Dean, J. W. Carpenter, M. W. Lowry and C. S. Woodruff to represent the bar association at the funeral, which is to be held in Dalton tomorrow.

STABBED HIM AS HE WOULD A PIG

JUDGE ARCHBALD'S SEVERE ARRANGEMENT OF ORGILL.

In Imposing Sentence in the Providence Stabbing Case the Judge Speaks His Mind About the Nature of the Offense—Orgill is Fined $50 and Given Nine Months in the County Jail—Laughlin Sentenced to Three and a Half Years in the Penitentiary.

Sentences were imposed Saturday by Judge Edwards, Archbald and Herring on the culprits convicted before them last week. Judge Archbald gave John Orgill a fine of $50 and nine months in the county jail for stabbing Robert Elliott at Ben Day's hotel, in Providence, in November, 1897. In passing sentence Judge Archbald said: "This is a very difficult case to deal with. The justice of the conviction cannot be questioned. When I charged the jury I felt as though I did not do justice to the defendant. I felt during the course of the trial that I would have been justified in saying to the jury that, to my mind, no jurisdiction was shown for the blow that was given. I withheld that, however, and permitted the jury to deal with it. This defendant under his own testimony, stabbed this man like a pig—it is awful—we ought not any of us, in administering justice here, lose sight of that fact."

"Another thing that impressed me was this—we haven't gotten the whole truth of the case, five men who were there, including his bartender, who is supposed to be sober if the other men were drunk, were within a few feet of where this occurred and saw nothing at the critical moment, or at least swore that they saw nothing. You are apparently a man of a certain measure of respectability, with a family. I desire to properly vindicate the law and at the same time be merciful to the defendant."

ONE YEAR FOR PALMER.

William H. Palmer, convicted of stealing an overcoat from his father, was sentenced to one year in the county jail. He made a pitiful plea to be spared from the penitentiary, saying that he was sick, and if given a long term would surely die. Palmer is an old offender, and has served a term in the penitentiary. Judge Edwards said he would be as lenient as he could consistently be under the circumstances.

James Laughlin, who pleaded guilty of robbing F. E. King of a gold watch, was given three years and six months in the penitentiary by Judge Edwards. He served a term in the penitentiary and another in the county jail for similar offenses, and was out of the county jail only two hours when he committed this crime. "I'm afraid you are a hardy old offender," Judge Edwards said when Laughlin pleaded for just one more chance.

Patrick Quinn and Thomas Cobb, who pleaded guilty of robbing Joseph Perry on the Fall Brook road, of a watch and pocketbook, were let off with a year in the county jail. In imposing sentence Judge Edwards said that in consideration of the fact that it was their first offense and that they were members of good families he would deal with them lightly.

Florence Wade, alias Kimball, convicted of living illegally with W. H. Cole, was sentenced by Judge Archbald to pay a fine of $25 and undergo imprisonment in the county jail for three months.

ALICE CONWAY'S SENTENCE.

Judge Herring imposed a sentence of one year in the county jail and a fine of $10 on Alice Conway, convicted of keeping a disorderly house.

Peter Swoney was given six months in the county jail for stealing a horse and carriage belonging to Gorman & Co.

James and John Connors, who committed assault and battery upon Alfred Griffin at the Continental, were sentenced to a fine of $25, costs and four months in jail. In John Connors' case the imprisonment was remitted, he having already served four months while awaiting trial.

Michael O'Connell for breaking into a Delaware and Hudson freight car at Dickson City, was sentenced to a fine of $10 and three months in the county jail.

For stealing a chicken from Mrs. Wallace Clarke, of Jermy, Michael Kearney was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 and undergo two months' imprisonment. It was his second offense.

John Reed was given three months in the county jail and a fine of $10 for attempting to burglarize P. F. and M. T. Hawley's warehouse.

Sylvester Churny was fined $25 and costs for beating Max Judkovic, of the South Side.

Sentence was suspended until next Saturday in the case of M. J. Barrett, convicted of false pretenses.

NO TRUTH IN THE STORY.

There is no intention of arresting Mrs. Monaghan.

A local news bureau sent out a sensational story from this city last night to the effect that Mrs. Monaghan is to be arrested for complicity in the murder of Michael E. Corcoran at Durysa early in the morning of Saturday, Dec. 2. It will be remembered that Mrs. Monaghan was Mr. Corcoran's housekeeper.

The story sent out last night is wholly untrue. The Tribune has it from a source of undoubted authority that there is no intention of placing Mrs. Monaghan under arrest. While the stories do not all agree those who are at work on the case exonerate her from any connection with the killing or burglary. She will be valuable as a witness, however, when the murderers are caught and from the present outlook they will be in custody before a great while.

Among the detectives who are at work on the case are Sergeant Reap, of the New York detective force, the man who unraveled the North mountain murder in Wyoming county a few years ago and Detective Holland who figured conspicuously in the Red Nose Mike case.

NO AGREEMENT YET.

Jury Held a Religious Service Early Last Evening.

No verdict was returned by the jury in the Keller murder trial yesterday and the jurors went to bed last night without reaching an agreement.

Judge Edwards informed them that he would take their finding if they AGREED BEFORE 8 O'CLOCK in the evening. Chief Messenger Newton remained at the court house up all that hour prepared to summon the judge if a verdict was found, but when nothing was heard from them at 8 o'clock he left for his home.

During the early evening the jurors were heard singing "Jesus Lover of My Soul" and other sacred hymns. It is supposed they were conducting a religious service.

They have been seven days on the case and midnight marked the seventy-eighth hour since they retired to debarrate.

MISS CROSBY'S ADDRESS.

Related to the Effect of the War on Missionary Work.

Miss Theodora Crosby, who spent some time at the Marshall Islands, Micronesia, as a missionary, and who has achieved quite a reputation as a writer, delivered an interesting talk in the Second Presbyterian church yesterday morning on the relation of the war with Spain on the missionary work in the islands where she labored. The address was repeated last night in the Green Ridge Presbyterian church.

Miss Crosby is an easy, graceful speaker and her addresses were intensely interesting.
